Sichuan Pepper (Timut)

From the untouched nature of the Himalaya mountains!

New organic quality!

Also known as Lemon Pepper, this pepper is not unreasonable regarded as a star among the Chinese spices. He is indispensable for the authentic Asian cuisine (e.g. wok dishes) as he can not be replaced by any other spice because of his extraordinary flavour.

Our Sichuan Pepper represents furthermore a particular rarity!

He does not come from China like the most available merchandise in Europe, but grows in the untouched mountains of the Himalayas.

Laboriously picked by mountain farmers in 2000 m height, he reaches the valley by exhaustive paths, where he is carefully cleaned and dried and once again sorted by hand.

This natural and above all free from environmental pollution pepper has a unique range of aromas and furthermore a content of essential oil, which is almost three times higher than in commercially available peppers.
